

Affirm Legality Of Broyles Law

Supreme Court Rules Illinois Act Reasonable

Loyalty Oath Law Challenged by Three Teachers

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today affirmed the constitutionality of the Broyles loyalty oath law.

The law requires all state employees and all public workers, including teachers, whose salaries are paid in part from state funds to sign oaths that they are not Communists and belong to no organizations that seek to overthrow the state or federal governments by force or other unlawful means.

In an opinion written by Justice Ray I. Klingbiel, the Supreme Court said "the law is obviously a reasonable means of accomplishing its purpose of eliminating Communists and other subversive persons from public employment. We conclude that it does not violate the due process of law clause (of the constitution)."

Teachers Brought Suit

The law was challenged by three Chicago public school teachers in Cook County Circuit Court where Judge Julius H. Miner dismissed their complaint. The case was then appealed to the Supreme Court.

The teachers were Mrs. Sarah Pickus, Mrs. Shirley Lens and Albert Soglin, who were refused their salaries when they declined to sign the oath.

The American Civil Liberties Union sponsored their court suits. The teachers had charged in their briefs that the oath was "repugnant to constitutional liberty" and attempts to deal with the problem of loyalty in a slipshod and arbitrary manner.

Denies Teachers' Arguments

They argued that the law made no provision for a hearing and that it created arbitrary divisions in that employees of cities, counties, towns and villages were exempted. The high court dismissed both arguments. It said the arguments about a hearing "loses sight of the nature of the requirement. The statute does not purport to designate a crime or offense for which punishment is imposed. It merely prescribes a standard of eligibility."

Cold Air Chills Large Section of Nation; Rain, Snow Hit Northeast

By United Press
Cold air chilled a large section of the nation today as more snow and snow flurries were forecast for the northeast.

A heavy rain and a foot of snow struck the Northeast Monday. Heaviest hit areas were sections of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Weathermen said the new snow—mostly light and generally only flurries—would fall from Maine

Ed Hine, Veteran County Official, To Retire as Gallatin Circuit Clerk

Monday, Dec. 3, is the date all newly elected county officials take office and on that date Ed Hine will turn over the office of Circuit Clerk and Recorder of Gallatin county to Roy Shook. Hine will retire to private life.

It will mark the first time in eight years and only the second time since 1934 that Hine has not held an elective office in Gallatin county.

In 1934 Hine was elected county treasurer of Gallatin county. As the treasurer cannot immediately succeed himself Hine was the successful candidate for sheriff in the 1938 elections and in 1942 was re-elected county treasurer.

In 1946 Hine was the Democratic nominee for Congress and was defeated by Roy Clippinger, Republican from Carmi.

In 1948 Hine successfully sought the office of Circuit Clerk in Gallatin county and was re-elected in 1952.

Hine considers his election in 1952 as probably the highlight of his political career.

"That year was a Republican landslide, but I was re-elected circuit clerk by a greater majority than I received in 1948," Hine stated recently.

Hine, a native of Gallatin county, moved from Shawneetown to Equality in 1937. He is secretary of the Equality Township high school board of education, chairman of the official board of the Equality Methodist church and a member of the Equality Village Council.

Dorsey Death Ruled Accidental; Bandleader Chokes in His Sleep

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—A medical examiner ruled today that bandleader Tommy Dorsey, the "sentimental gentleman of swing," accidentally choked to death in his sleep.

Police and Dorsey's family denied there was any mystery surrounding his death Monday in the locked master bedroom of his $130,000 home. He died just two days before he was due to appear in court to reply to his third wife's divorce suit.

Medical examiner Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said after an autopsy the 51-year old musician threw up while he slept, and food lodged in his windpipe and lungs.

Found By Manager

Police who were called to the 23-room house after Dorsey's fully clothed body was found by Vincent

Carbone, his business manager, agreed with the medical examiner's findings. They said there was no evidence of foul play, and nothing to indicate that Dorsey took his own life.

However, Knapp said Dorsey's vital organs will be sent to the state toxicology laboratory in Hartford, Conn., for analysis.

An empty bottle, which Mrs. Jane (Janie) New Dorsey had said contained her husband's sleeping pills, was found in a bathroom adjoining his bedroom.

The Dorsey brothers' band played as usual Monday night in the Cafe Rouge at the Hotel Statler in New York. But the trombone player's equally famous brother, Jimmy Dorsey, was in seclusion. Lee Castle, a trumpet player, directed the band.

Started Out In Twenties

The brothers started as Dorsey's wild canaries in Carlin's Park near Baltimore in 1922 and zoomed into national prominence in the twenties and thirties. Their greatest fame was won with separate bands.

His family and close associates said Dorsey was in the best of spirits the day before his death. They said a note to his wife, the former Jane New of Atlanta, Ga., found in his locked bedroom, was only one of many that Dorsey normally wrote each day to family members, his associates and his employees.

Addressed "Dear Janie" and signed simply "T," it said:

"Thanks very much for the dinner—it was wonderful, and be sure to thank your mom. I am leaving early in the morning. Kiss Susie (her 7-year old daughter) for me before she leaves for school."

Tommy was called "starmaker" in music circles for having introduced many instrumentalists and vocalists who went on to fame.

Among the singers were Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes, Jo Stafford and Connie Haines. The instrumentalists included Ziggy Elman, Bunny Gerigan and Charlie Shavers, trumpets, Buddy Rich, and Dave Tough, drums, and the late Glenn Miller, trombone.

Death Takes Mrs. W. R. Bennett, 88, Former Resident

Mrs. Arzella Bennett, 88, widow of W. R. Bennett, former resident of Harrisburg, died Monday at 7 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alma Pool, in Pontiac, Mich., where she had made her home for the past 25 years.

The body will arrive in Harrisburg Wednesday morning by way of the New York Central railroad and will be taken to the Gaskins funeral home to lie in state until time for the funeral which will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at Cedar Bluff church on Rt. 145. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Bennett is survived by the following children: Herman Bennett, Muddy, Edgar E. Bennett, RFD 3, Harrisburg, Ezra of Pontiac, Harley, Orlando, Texas, Mrs. Dorie Simpson, Ypsilanti, Mich., Mrs. Alma Pool, Pontiac, Mich., Alta Bennett, Lake Orion, Mich., Mrs. Edith Bumgardner, Pontiac, Mrs. Hattie Swansy, Pontiac, Mrs. Emma Shaw, Carrier Mills, Mrs. Elsie Reed, RFD 2, Harrisburg; also 35 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Iraq Appeals To U. S. Against Syrian Threat

LONDON (AP)—Wholesale Soviet infiltration into Syria threatened today to touch off a clash between Syria and Iraq. There were urgent appeals to the United States to do something about the worsening situation.

The new threat to peace in the Middle East overshadowed developments in the Suez crisis where the danger of war remained great despite the growing numbers of United Nations Emergency Forces (UNEF) arriving in Egypt.

Turkey, a member of the pro-Western Baghdad Pact with Iraq, reported steady shipments of Soviet arms into Syria. Reports reaching London said Syria was in the grip of a triumvirate headed by an avowed Communist.

Appeals for Arms

Iraq appealed to the United States for more arms and warned Syria in an official note that it would defend threats to its security. It added that recent developments in Syria had assumed "dangerous proportions" and it condemned the campaign against Iraq being waged in the controlled Syria press.

Moscow radio took note of the situation today and blamed the United States for what it called a "provocative campaign against Syria." It said the campaign was "accompanied by attempts to goad the British and French allies on to fresh gambles in the Middle East."

The reports added up to this: The anti-Communist Moslem countries, particularly Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, were lining up solidly against the nations which have accepted vast amounts of Soviet arms—Egypt and Syria.

Mrs. L. W. Fivash, Former Resident, Dies at East St. Louis

Mrs. L. W. Fivash died in a hospital in East St. Louis yesterday at 9 p. m. following surgery. She was the former Gleada Matthews and attended the Harrisburg Township high school.

She and Mr. Fivash lived in Harrisburg for many years but in recent years had made their home in Belleville.

Besides her husband she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson of Winter Park, Fla., and two sons, Weldon of Tustin, Mich., and M. J. of Hinsdale, Ill.

Funeral services will be Thursday at 10 a. m. at Kuris funeral home in East St. Louis after which the body will be taken directly to the Raleigh Masonic cemetery for burial Thursday at 2 p. m.

Mr. Fivash is a brother of Mrs. Clara Sullivan and Mrs. Paul Endicott of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Endicott have gone to Belleville to accompany the funeral cortege to Raleigh. They are expected to arrive at the Masonic cemetery there around 2 p. m. Thursday.

No Break in Alliance, White House States

Statement is Issued at President's Vacation Office

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The White House said today that differences between the United States and Great Britain and France over the Mideast situation should not be regarded as "a weakening or disruption" of a great and historic alliance.

The White House statement, designed to shore up shaky relations between this country and the Western Allies, was issued at President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here after the chief executive conferred by telephone with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Key West, Fla., and Acting Secretary Herbert Hoover Jr. in Washington.

Dulles will come to Augusta next Sunday for a first-hand review of the international situation with Mr. Eisenhower, preparatory to Dulles' departure for the NATO ministerial council meeting in Paris Dec. 11.

The White House also reported today that the Iraq request for United States assistance against a reported Soviet arms buildup in Syria was before the President for consideration and discussed by the chief executive this morning with Dulles and Hoover.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty also announced that Sens. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) and former ambassador to India, would leave for New Delhi Nov. 28 for talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru preliminary to Nehru's visit to this country starting Dec. 16.

After announcing Dulles would confer with the President here Sunday, Hagerty said that the President regarded NATO as "a basic and indispensable element of American defense alliances against the continuing Soviet Communist threat to the peace and security of the world."

This seemed to be an obvious answer to a recent proposal by Soviet Premier Bulganin that the NATO organization should be broken up. Bulganin made this suggestion in a message to Mr. Eisenhower proposing a limited acceptance of the President's "open skies" disarmament plan.

Mr. Eisenhower worked in his office for about 2 1/2 hours, then played nine holes of golf before lunch. After lunch he planned to play another nine holes.

State to Begin Mailing 1957 Auto License Plates on Saturday

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Over-the-counter sales of 1957 automobile license plates will begin Saturday.

The secretary of state's office announced Monday that the new plates will be available at both the Springfield and Chicago offices, beginning Saturday.

Mailing of the licenses applied for by mail will start at the same time.

Deadline for displaying the 1957 plates will be Feb. 15.

Inter-Service Battle Far from Over After Wilson Memorandum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles A. Wilson Monday signed a paper: "clarifying" the roles and missions of the armed services. But even before the ink was dry, Wilson had made two exceptions in favor of the Army.

Wilson's action pointed up one fact: The battle between the services over roles and missions is not over. Rather it has turned into a question of interpretation and a reading of the small print.

The eight-page memorandum by Wilson was designed to end prolonged inter-service controversies which the Joint Chiefs of Staff could not resolve on their own.

Stratton May Propose $150 Million Bonds for Colleges, Institutions

Plan Would Be Offered in Referendum in 1958

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton may propose a $150 million dollar bond issue to pay for construction and expansion at state colleges, universities, mental hospitals and penal institutions.

The governor outlined the proposal, which would be submitted to a 1958 referendum, Monday at his first news conference since the election. He also discussed his narrow election victory and gave a "preview" of his program for the next four years.

Stratton said he "can't give a definite answer at this time" on whether he foresees a need for a tax increase in the next four years.

He said the proposed $150 million dollar bond issue would be divided about evenly between educational and welfare institutions. The issue would be retired from general revenues.

He did not make clear whether the bond issue would mean that appropriations for construction and capital improvements would be eliminated from the budgets of the institutions.

Wants Bigger Force

Other highlights of the news conference:

1. The governor will ask the new General Assembly for an increase of from 100 to 300 men in the state police force. Some of these will be needed to patrol the new toll roads and will be paid by the Toll Road Commission.

2. The Illinois Public Aid Commission is likely to have a deficiency of "several million dollars" this biennium. The whole public aid program should be re-assessed and the governor will again ask for the creation of a public aid department under a single director to replace the Public Aid Commission.

3. The governor would not commit himself on whether he favored proposals growing out of the Hodge scandal to eliminate the treasurer and auditor as elective offices. But he said he will make "far-reaching and thorough" recommendations of his own to reform the state's fiscal management.

4. He will not announce any changes in his administration until after the Legislature convenes in January.

At this point the election and the future of Insurance Director Justin McCarthy and Cook County Public Administrator Charles Fleck.

Roy Chamberlain Held in Jail After Shooting

No Reason is Given for Shooting In Chamberlain Home

John Eston "Esau" Ledbetter died at 9:20 a. m. today of bullet wounds received last night and Roy L. Chamberlain is being held in the Saline county jail in connection with the shooting. No reason has been established for the slaying.

No charges had been filed against Chamberlain this morning but City Policeman W. R. "Pat" Atkinson, first to arrive at the Chamberlain home at 209 East Dayton street shortly after nine o'clock last night, said that Chamberlain admitted to him that he shot Ledbetter in the kitchen of his home.

Ledbetter, 49 years old, who resided with his wife and five children on Marsh street, and Chamberlain, about 47, were both railroaders employed by the New York Central. Ledbetter was employed in the car department, Chamberlain as a switchman.

Two Bullets Enter Body

Ledbetter died in the Harrisburg hospital, where he was taken by ambulance following Atkinson's arrival at the Chamberlain home. Two slugs from a .38 calibre revolver entered the body about four inches apart, one going into the lower part of the chest and one into the upper part of the stomach. One of the slugs penetrated the body.

The shooting occurred some time before nine o'clock and the two men apparently were the only ones in the house at the time.

Sheriff William T. Barrett said that Mrs. Chamberlain said she was at a neighbor's home when the shooting occurred.

Atkinson said that after receiving the call he hurried to the address and found Ledbetter lying on the bathroom floor, a pillow under his head and Chamberlain kneeling beside him.

Atkinson said this morning that Chamberlain first informed him that Ledbetter had accidentally shot himself. However, after an ambulance was summoned and Ledbetter was taken to the hospital, Atkinson demanded the gun used in the shooting.

Admits Shooting

Chamberlain went into the dining room and got the revolver, a .38 Smith and Wesson, and

Assembly Will Be Asked to Probe Relief Program

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The 70th General Assembly will be urged to investigate the administration of Cook County relief funds and to completely overhaul the Chicago-Cook County public assistance program.

The executive board of the Township Officials of Illinois unanimously adopted a resolution here Monday calling for a legislative investigation of the situation.

William H. Winterhoff, Thornton Township supervisor, who offered the resolution, said the General Assembly should "investigate the whole question of administering relief."

He said 75 per cent of Illinois public assistance funds are currently going to Chicago, with the remainder divided between the remainder of Cook County and the other 101 Illinois counties.

The Useless Ditch

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

While the treacherous currents of international strife swirl about the Middle East, engineers sadly survey the wreckage that has reduced the great Suez Canal to a useless ditch. It is hard to think of it as the prize for which the British and French plunged into Egypt.

The experts are saying now it may be at least six or seven months before the canal can be cleared of the 50 vessels sunk in its channel and the harbor approaches. Other wreckage includes a railroad bridge that once spanned the waterway.

Removal of the wrecks has been described as a "ghastly task." At one point in the canal a ship laden with scrap iron and concrete rests on the bottom. At the Port Said entrance to the passage, eight sunken vessels ranged in horse-shoe style form a nearly solid barrier.

Egyptian President Nasser has shown by the completeness of this work how indifferent he is to the international stake in Suez.

One might quickly say that his sabotage is to be expected in view of the Anglo-French attack upon him. But, however "natural" his reaction may be regarded, the fact is that he has thus deprived many nations not involved in the Suez crisis of the use of the canal for an extended period.

The British and French of course knew the risk they were taking. They have already begun to pay on this particular gamble.

Oil deliveries to consumers in Britain have been cut at least 10 per cent. The most optimistic estimates now are that the country's supply will be slashed 40 per cent by the canal blockage.

Fewer cars and buses travel London's streets than did a few weeks ago, and the pinch seems sure to be felt increasingly.

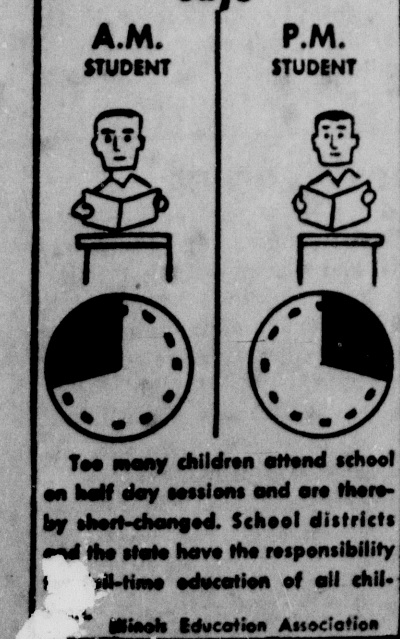

France likewise is suffering on oil, and French economic experts fear that prolonged interruption of Suez traffic will seriously affect its industry in general. Most of its rubber, tin, manganese and jute traveled that roadway. Sending shipments around Africa will boost prices sharply.

Word in Washington is that our government is preparing to supply from the Western hemisphere nearly half the daily oil shipments normally received in Western Europe via Suez.

But even that does not put too much cheer into the long-range picture. For there are ominous signs that when the canal is restored Britain, France and others may find substantial Middle Eastern oil sources barred to them as result of Arab resentment at their attack on Egypt.

Whatever other reasons exist for the assault, whatever else may flow from it, the events since that moment suggest strongly that it was not the ideal way to keep Suez operating as Europe's industrial lifeline.

EDDIE the EDUCATOR says

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Senators Critical Of Hoover's Short-Sighted Near East Plans; He Will Firmly Resist Russia Volunteers; U. S. Permits Fats To Penetrate Iron Curtain.

WASHINGTON. — Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., confessed behind closed doors the other day that the State Department has no long-range plans for dealing with the Middle East crisis.

Summoned before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to explain the State Department's Middle East policies, Hoover gave the senators what they considered a superficial briefing. They complained afterward that he told them nothing they had not already read in the newspapers.

At one point, Arkansas' scholarly, caustic Sen. Bill Fulbright demanded to know what long-range plans the State Department had for settling the Middle East problem.

"At this stage," replied Hoover, "all we are doing is urging the United Nations to exercise full jurisdiction. We believe it would be a mistake for us to take unilateral action."

"Suppose things do not develop through the United Nations," pressed Fulbright. "What plans do you have then?"

"That is all in the realm of conjecture," replied Hoover. "We have already arranged a cease-fire and a United Nations patrol. We are satisfied that we can work out a solution through United Nations procedures."

The senators present happen to be strong supporters of the U. N. however, what worried them is the fact that Russia can veto any U. N. action in the Security Council, while the Asia-Africa bloc probably could block a two-thirds vote in the assembly. They felt the United States must have a long-range plan to bring about Arab-Israeli-Western peace.

Note — The President has now decided to take a firm stand against Russian "volunteers" to Egypt and the Arab states. He was urged by advisers, and finally agreed that, to let the Russians know in advance that we would resist so-called volunteers would definitely help to prevent war. An uncertain policy on the other hand might gradually lead to war.

FATS FOR RUSSIA It has been kept out of the newspapers, but House investigators have been pleading with the Eisenhower administration for two years to stop the leakage of vital fats and oils behind the Iron Curtain. These are commodities which Russia urgently needs.

Nevertheless, the Agriculture Department has sold linseed oil—which cost the taxpayers 27 cents per pound—to foreign companies for less than seven cents, and a House investigating subcommittee has learned that large quantities of this oil ended up behind the Iron Curtain.

As long ago as Feb. 28, 1955, Chairman L. H. Fountain, North Carolina Democrat, wrote a confidential three-page letter to President Eisenhower warning: "Information brought to the attention of the subcommittee indicates a rather widespread belief that (our) export policy is being violated by trans-shipment of agricultural commodities to Russia."

When nothing was done to stop the illegal flow, Fountain wrote again on June 12, 1956: "The subcommittee has obtained what appears to be conclusive evidence of the illegal trans-shipment of sizable quantities of surplus commodities which occurred after my letter of Feb. 28 warning of the danger . . .

"I have seen little evidence," he added, "of any real attempt on the part of the responsible agencies to enforce the established policy of the United States as it relates to surplus agricultural commodities."

Fountain also complained that government agencies had refused to cooperate with his investigations.

"Some information specifically requested by the subcommittee has been refused," he wrote. "In other cases, agencies have given misleading replies to questions regarding data they possessed or could obtain . . . I urge that you take prompt action to insure that the established export policy of the United States is enforced and that violators of this policy are detected and punished."

All the North Carolina congressman got for his pains, however, was a brief note from one of Ike's lesser assistants.

"This matter is being examined," replied White House aide Bryce Harlow, "and further information will be furnished you as soon as possible."

No further word has come from the White House since last June.

STRANGE DUTCH SALE

Meanwhile, Fountain's investigators have discovered that 391,000,000 pounds of linseed oil was earmarked for The Netherlands during one 10-month period. This was obviously a phony deal. It was not only 90 per cent of this country's total linseed-oil exports, but it was enough to supply each Dutch man, woman and child with enough oil to last eight years if consumed at the same rate as Americans.

House sleuths then discovered a Paris company, the Inter-oceanic Commodity Corp., bought over half the linseed oil supposedly shipped to The Netherlands. This French company did not submit a bid, but negotiated with the Agriculture Department to buy the oil for an average price slightly under seven cents per pound—approximately one-fourth of what it cost the taxpayers.

Much of this oil reportedly has leaked through the Iron Curtain where it is vitally needed. There is no proof that Inter-oceanic Commodity Corp., itself, trans-shipped the oil. But some European dealers obviously made a killing at the expense of the American taxpayers and in violation of our export laws.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department has done nothing to stop the illegal shipments, except formal warning to purchasers not to trans-ship behind the Iron Curtain.

Law Requiring Funeral Directors to Be Embalmers Ruled Illegal

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today ruled unconstitutional a portion of a law requiring funeral directors to be certified embalmers.

Other sections of the law, which established an apprentice system for embalmers and required funeral directors to have a fixed place of business, was ruled valid. The case was on appeal from the Hamilton County Circuit Court, which had ruled the entire act unconstitutional. It grew out of a legal action begun by Elmo Gholson, who operates funeral homes at McLeansboro and Dahlgren.

Cadillac

Surpasses its Own Great Reputation!

You're looking at a mighty surprised man.

Almost all of his adult life he has owned Cadillac cars. And so, when he came in to see and drive the new 1957 Cadillac, he thought he knew about what to expect. Well, here he is—barely under way in the city's traffic—and already he is learning the startling truth.

He is learning that nothing could prepare a man for the new "car of cars"—not even Cadillac ownership itself!

He suspected it, in fact, the instant he caught his first glimpse of this newest Cadillac creation. This was an entirely new kind of Cadillac beauty—brilliantly fresh in line and in contour.

And then he opened the door and swung into the driver's seat. On every side were new miracles of interior beauty and comfort and convenience.

And when he turned the key and put his foot on the accelerator, his sentiment grew to conviction. The car was incredibly nimble and quiet and smooth of ride.

Surprised, did we say? Well, just wait until he hits an open stretch of highway.

That great new engine is incredibly responsive. There is marvelous new balance and ease of motion. And the car is so easy to handle that it seems almost to know the road.

No question about it—this is the Cadillac that surpasses its own great reputation!

We suggest that you come in soon to see and drive this most surprising new Cadillac in fifty-four years. It's an experience you shouldn't postpone—and one you'll not soon forget.

Beta Sigma Phi Confers Ritual of Jewels Formally Pledges Rushes

Beta Sigma Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a short business meeting in the library auditorium Monday at 7 p. m. Mrs. Ronald Coon, president, was in charge. The chapter voted to give donations of $5.00 to the Salvation Army and to the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal drive.

Immediately following the business meeting of the Ritual of Jewels degree was bestowed upon Mrs. Richard Davenport, Mrs. Noble Shaw and Mrs. J. B. Morse. After the Ritual of Jewels ceremony the following rushes were formally pledged to Beta Sigma Phi chapter: Mrs. William Burroughs, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Lowell Vaughn, Mrs. James Johnson and Miss Carol Odle. Both the Ritual of Jewels and Pledge Ritual were impressive candlelight ceremonies with soft music as a background.

The social committee served delicious refreshment: of tea and cakes from a beautifully decorated table with a centerpiece of yellow roses. Mrs. J. A. Bottomley, social sponsor for the chapter, presided at the tea table.

Mrs. H. B. Bauman, director, Mrs. Bottomley, the rushes and 15 members were present.

Lenore Circle Meets At Pittman Home

Mrs. Clyde Pittman and Mrs. Herman Seifried were hostesses Monday evening to the Lenore circle of the First Presbyterian church, at the home of Mrs. Pittman.

The Bible Study, continuing the book of Ephesians, "Take and Use the God-Given Equipment," was discussed by Miss Julia Williamson. Miss Edith Morrison gave the Year Book of Prayer and the Meditation, "Slaves or Servants." Mrs. Nelle Meyers presented the lesson on "The Filipinos."

During the business meeting a donation was made by the members to Kemmerer Children's Home at Assumption, Ill.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Miss Ethel Ewing, Miss Jean Selby, Miss Mabel Mallonee, Mrs. Charles Boicourt, Mrs. Nelle Meyers, Miss Julia Williamson, Mrs. Steve Farar, Miss Mary Morrison, Mrs. Clyde Cook, Miss Edith Morrison, Miss Gladys Gaskins and Mrs. Herman Seifried.

November Meeting of Xi Chi Chapter Of Beta Sigma Phi

The Xi Chi chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority held its November meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 14, in the club room of the Mitchell Carnegie library.

Mrs. Sorado Mugge, president, conducted a short business meeting. Tentative plans were formulated for each member of Xi Chi chapter to submit her favorite recipe for publication in the National Beta Sigma Phi Cookbook. The business meeting was concluded with the drawing of names for gift exchange at the Christmas party.

"Creative Beauty Can Be Fun" was the theme of the program which Mrs. Alice Barnes very cleverly presented. She opened the program with a brief discussion of modern gift wrapping paper, ribbons, etc., and the numerous creative possibilities they offer. Mrs. Barnes then displayed a number of very beautifully wrapped Christmas packages and explained the method by which she had carried out her own talent of creating beauty in wrapping and decorating the packages.

A "gift wrapping workshop" was conducted by Mrs. Barnes during the remainder of the meeting. Colorful paper, ribbons and trimmings were available. Each member realized as fancy, gay bows, ribbon roses and merry pointsettias were mastered under Mrs. Barnes' help and direction, that "Creative Beauty Can Be Fun"—indeed.

During the workshop refreshments were served informally by the hostesses, Mrs. Vera Gregg and Mrs. Helen Stump.

One guest, Mrs. W. L. Bouchiard, of Desloge, Mo., was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Render, 421 West South, had as guests in their home through Thanksgiving week and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Render and two sons, Craig Allan and Scott Dion; their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rude of Worth, Ill., and Carolyn Render from Decatur.

Sgt. and Mrs. Robert A. Gibson and five children arrived in Harrisburg Sunday night for a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Illinois. They flew to New York from Germany where Sgt. Gibson has been stationed. After their visit here they will go to Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Milburn, New Burnside, whose Golden Wedding anniversary was celebrated with "open house" was attended by more than 200 people on Sunday, Nov. 25. Guests were from seven different states, and the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn were present to help them in receiving their guests. Friends and neighbors were also of great assistance in the dining room, where punch and cake were served from a beautifully decorated table. Arrangements of gold-en mums, foliage and other flowers employing the anniversary theme graced tables in the hall, where there was a guest book, and in the other rooms of the house.

From nearby places came friends from New Burnside, Ozark, Vienna, Grantsburg, Brookport, Harrisburg, McLeansboro, Walpole, Olney, Evansville, Stonefort, Marion, Pittsburg, Creal Springs, Goreville, West Frankfort, and from Moscow, Idaho, St. Paul, Minn., Atlanta, Ga., and Palm Beach, Fla. Miss Judy Pool, Conrad Lowell Mann Wed in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pool are announcing the marriage of their daughter in a ceremony performed Nov. 15 at the Pioneer Drive Baptist church at Abilene, Texas, at nine o'clock in the morning.

Miss Jewell DeVeau (Judy) Pool was united in marriage to Conrad Lowell Mann, formerly of Fairfield, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mann, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the only attendants.

A small reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mann following the ceremony.

The bride and groom will be at home at Kountry Trailer Park, 32nd and Treadaway, three blocks east of highway 83-84, Abilene, Texas.

Mrs. Will Griffith of 718 West Lincoln is a patient in the Lightner hospital where she is recovering from major surgery. Her room number is 220. Her condition is improving.

Mrs. Knox Pickering and children, Norma and Leonard, returned home Thanksgiving morning after a week's visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pickering and sons, Jerry Dale and Randy, of Hobart, Ind. Mrs. Pickering was awaiting the arrival of two more sons, Alvin and Bob, who had spent two and a half years in the Air Force stationed in Germany. After their arrival Mrs. Pickering was accompanied home by Gene and family and Denzil Moffitt of Hammond, Ind., and had all her family home together for the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. Pickering also visited three sisters in Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Moffitt in Hammond, and nieces and nephews in Hobart and Gary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Drum of Downers Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Drum and baby daughter, Christy, of Chicago, spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. E. W. Cummins and Miss Frances Cummins. E. W. Drum recently completed three years of service in the U. S. Army, and is now attending school in Chicago.

How To Live On $91.65 A Month

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eighty-five-year-old Harry Bickford scoffs at elderly people who complain about money. He lives on $91.65 a month and gets along "fine."

"The trouble is most old people nowadays wants too much," the retired newspaper stereotyper said. "I read the other day about a man retired on $250 a month and couldn't make ends meet. If I was that fellow, I'd think I was a millionaire."

Bickford retired at 70 after working on newspapers all over the country. When his last paper in San Diego, Calif., folded and his wife died, Bickford headed for Florida.

"All I had, besides my little savings," he said, "was a $58.50 social security check monthly and $33.15 a month from an annuity. And I get along fine."

He bought his one-bedroom cottage and furnished it for a total investment of about $4,000. He did most of the work fixing up the place and he beautified his yard with shrubs and fruit trees.

Saves $200 Annually

Bickford does all his own work. He cooks, washes, irons, keeps house and shops. He said he spends about three days a week on the housework. The rest of the week he goes to ball games, relaxes, talks to people and "once in awhile I take in a movie."

Bickford said food costs him $5 to $7 a week, and "I eat well—bacon and eggs, vegetables, stews, soups, cheese; things like that."

And he added that he has wine "or something stronger" every night before retiring.

He spends about $6 a month for electricity; water comes from a pump; he subscribes to a newspaper and his bus fare—he likes to ride downtown and look at people—runs about $1 a week. He spends 40 cents a week for cigars.

"I stretch every dollar," the octogenarian said. "And at the end of each year, I have about $200 left."

What does this "king in his castle" do with his $200 savings from his annual income of $1,099.80?

"I use that for Christmas presents," he explained.

When anyone asks him how he lives on his income, Bickford always replies:

"If you've got a little place of your own and can take care of yourself, it's easy. 'I wouldn't trade places with anybody.'"

DAD IN THERE, TOO

Electric trains appeal to adults as well as children. At the end of World War II, an estimated 35 per cent of all trains was sold to adults for their own use. It has increased until today it is an even bet that the next set sold will go to a "grownup."

Licensed Practical Nurses Institute
Held Nov. 16-17

Seventy five officers and chairmen of the Licensed Practical Nurse Association of Illinois gathered at Pere Marquette Park near Alton on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16-17 for an officers institute. Techniques were discussed for better leadership, membership recruitment and educational opportunities for students and licensed practical nurses.

Following the institute the board of directors held its regular meeting. Among the action taken by the board were: Adoption of a recommended minimum salary fee for licensed practical nurses in private duty nursing, to be sent to all agencies employing private duty licensed practical nurses.

2. Plans for promoting in-service training for LPN's, courses in geriatrics and the psychological approach to care of the aged.

The board went on record in support of the National League of Nursing, urging the members to join the local area Leagues. The board authorized the president to appoint six licensed practical nurses as members of the committee on Practical Nursing in the Illinois League for Nursing. They will work on the League program for practical nurses.

Announcement was made of the two new approved schools for practical nursing at Harrisburg and Carbondale, and making a total of twelve in the state. Under the new appropriations voted by the Congress of the United States matched by the State of Illinois, the Department of Vocational Education will be able to establish more schools where the need is great. The members of the Licensed Practical Nurse Association of Illinois were alerted to stimulate interest in their respective communities to obtain an approved school.

The board of directors discussed plans for encouraging interest among students in joining the association when they obtain their licenses. A program is in preparation for students at the annual convention to be held in Rockford in March.

Those who attended the institute from this area are Mrs. Rachel Ashley of Crossville, president of Division 12, Mrs. Dollie Camp of West Frankfort and Mrs. Mable Squier of Mt. Vernon.

The president of the state association is Mrs. Jean D. Corcoran of Chicago.

Illinois Geological Society to Meet at Mt. Vernon Dec. 13

Dr. K. C. Dunham, at present at the University of Illinois as Visiting Professor of Structural Geology under the George A. Miller Foundation, will address the Illinois Geological Society at a dinner meeting to be held at the Emerson hotel in Mt. Vernon, Ill., on Thursday, Dec. 13. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Dr. Dunham was formerly Chief Petrographer of the Geological Survey of Great Britain, and is now head of the Department of Geology of the University of Durham, England.

He will describe the work which his department has been doing in the tropical forests of Sierra Leone, West Africa, on a belt of Precambrian rocks more than 2.2 billion years old which includes ore-bodies valuable as a source of chromite. Remains of a very ancient series of basic lavas were forcefully injected along a major zone of disturbance with solid bodies of dunite which carry the ore-bodies. Buried at very great depths in the crust, the lavas were engulfed in granite which partly replaced them, and which provided fluids causing profound alteration of the ultrabasic bodies along belts of fracturing. Two Brothers and Bachelor Babysitter Die of Suffocation MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (U.P.) — Two young brothers and their bachelor baby-sitter died of suffocation Monday night when an old fashioned gas stove consumed the oxygen in a windowless, one room house.

The bodies of the children—Dennis L., 6, and Timothy L. Conner, 10—were found sprawled on the floor a few feet from the door, the only opening in the cement-block structure near their suburban McKeefrey home.

Slumped in a chair in front of the seven-burner gas stove was Howard Phillips, about 32, of Philippi, W. Va. He had died in his sleep.

Mrs. Mildred Conner, mother of the two children, told police she had hired Phillips to look after the children while she entertained a church party at her home. Phillips took the boys to a foundation home, the covered basement of an unfinished house, on the Conners' property.

Christmas Season Is Photo Time

There is no holiday that is more of a natural picture-taking event than Christmas. This is a season that creates picture opportunities. The scenario can be planned with the first hint of Santa. This will assure a complete picture story with no blank spots that can never be filled, once the holidays are over.

Opportune scenes now through Christmas are boundless — the first visit to Santa, gift-wrapping, mailing, hanging the stockings, decorating the tree, opening gifts, carving the Christmas turkey, and right on through Christmas night when the youngsters are finally tucked in bed.

How far does your income take you?

If you're finding it harder to make your income keep up with rising costs, let us give you some facts about common stock investment. Find out how you can get more mileage out of your income by becoming a shareowner for as little as $40 every three months.

Are you getting a lift from your income?

Chances are your income isn't carrying you as far as you want it to, no matter how hard you work.

Why not try to get more lift out of your income by making some of it go to work for you? What's more satisfying than getting extra income that your income earns?

If this idea appeals to you, consider these steps right now!

First step. Dwell happily upon the thought that millions of people make their incomes produce more income by investing in stocks and bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Not all of them get big paychecks either. Two out of three have incomes under $7500 a year.

Second step. Before you invest make sure you've provided for family emergencies. Then get the facts about the company. Remember stock prices fluctuate and some companies may not pay dividends. But last year nine out of ten stocks on the New York Stock Exchange did pay dividends.

Third step. Bear in mind that when you buy common stock you become part-owner of the company. If it grows and prospers you may share in its prosperity in two ways: through dividends paid on your stock and through increase in the value of your investment. On the other hand, when you buy bonds the company owes you money and it promises to pay interest, usually at a fixed rate.

Fourth step. Make up your mind that if other people can put their incomes to work, you can too. You don't have to be an investment expert. But you do need the service of a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Their job is to help people buy and sell securities wisely. (The Exchange doesn't buy or sell nor set prices—it is the nation's market place where the stocks and bonds of more than 1,100 of America's companies are bought and sold by Member Firms carrying out the orders of people like you.)

Fifth step. Read our fascinating — and free — little booklet "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS" which gives the records of over 800 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 108 years... showing which yield 5 to 6 per cent at recent prices... which have paid progressively higher dividends over the last ten years... which are most favored by financial institutions... and much more, including information about the pay-as-you-go Monthly Investment Plan enabling you to invest as little as $40 every three months.

Drop in at any nearby Member Firm for the booklet. They'll welcome your visit. Or send the coupon. Isn't it time to consider getting an extra lift from your income?

Soviets Permit Military Trains to And From Berlin

BERLIN (U) — The Soviets allowed Western allied military trains to pass to and from isolated Berlin without incident today.

The Soviets banned a West-bound British train from passing the East-West border Monday and delayed the U. S. Berlin-bound train for two hours because it was carrying an American newspaperman. The army ejected the newspaperman from the train.

The Russians imposed new restrictions on military train travel through the Soviet zone last week but Western officials here refused to disclose what they were.

There were signs the Western powers were complying with new restrictions, at least to some extent.

New Pact with Iceland Ignores Policy by NATO

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (U) — The new agreement on stationing American troops in Iceland was expected today to have serious effect on the Atlantic Alliance policy calling for joint action on strategy problems.

The U. S.-Icelandic Pact was strictly bilateral and disregarded the North Atlantic Treaty Organization policy that all member powers be consulted on troop dispersal questions, informed sources said.

The Icelandic government formerly planned not to renew arrangements for letting U. S. troops stay here. It apparently changed its mind in the face of new world tension, and confirmed the agreement Monday night. It refused to disclose any details pending ratification of the treaty here and in Washington.

Informed sources said the pact calls for retention of U. S. forces in this strategic North Atlantic outpost indefinitely and continued development of Keflavik Air Base, with either party able to break the agreement on six months' notice. Iceland will receive economic and financial aid in return, the sources said.

A clause calling for reference of any treaty revision plans to NATO has been dropped, the sources said. Thus, if the agreement is ratified, it will set a precedent which could have drastic effect on NATO policy.

Recover Body of Hunter from Crab Orchard Lake

MARION, Ill. (U) — The body of a duck hunter who drowned Monday in Crab Orchard Lake near Marion has been recovered.

Authorities said a Carverville rescue unit pulled up the body of 26-year-old Gilbert Snyder of Bradley early today. Snyder drowned while swimming to recover a boat which had drifted away from an island where he and a companion, Don Linnbary of Bradley, were hunting.

Rescue workers had to give up the search Monday afternoon because of rough waters. They resumed the search at 8 a. m. today and recovered the body half an hour later in more than 15 feet of water near the spot where Linnbary had seen Snyder go down.

Snyder, a former Herrin resident and a ministerial student, was the son of the Rev. Thomas Snyder, Lawrenceville. He is survived by his wife and two children.

who came under fire in the campaign, were brought up.

Stratton ducked questions about whether he would fire either of the two men. Asked if he was satisfied with McCarthy's performance, Stratton said, "Let's put it this way: All departments will come under careful scrutiny" at the time their budgets are prepared.

Stratton flashed angrily when a reporter said he had been trying without success since Sept. 6 to see McCarthy. "I'm getting peeved" at implications this administration is not wide open to public inspection, Stratton said.

He said he was "pretty much" pleased with the work of Republican county organizations in the election in which he won by only about 40,000 votes while President Eisenhower swept the state.

Stratton dismissed the view that he rode the President's coattails to victory and said "I carried the whole weight" of Democratic charges about the Hodge scandal.

He said his record "stood up" under the most bitter, vindictive attack and that he was particularly pleased at the election of Benjamin S. Adamowski and Elbert Smith, his choice as Republican candidates for Cook County state's attorney and state auditor, respectively.

Airliner, 25 Aboard, Crashes In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (U) — An LAV Constellation airliner with 18 passengers and 7 crew members aboard crashed into a mountain today just before it was scheduled to land in Caracas.

There was no immediate word of the fate of the persons aboard the craft.

The plane, owned by the Linea Aeropostal Venezolana, left New York's International Airport at 9:10 p. m. CST Monday night. It was due in Caracas at about 5 a. m. CST today.

But just before it landed, it hit Mt. Naiguata, about 10 miles east-northeast of Caracas, in the north Caribbean coastal range of Venezuela.

LAV officials in New York said a "No. 1" alert was sounded when the four-engine plane failed to arrive on time. The airline identified the pilot as Capt. Marcel Comalbert.

Radio reports intercepted in Miami, Fla., said the plane was last heard from at 6:45 a. m. CST, when it was only 35 miles north-east of Maquettia Airport at Caracas. The radio reports added that it was raining and overcast at the time in Caracas, but that it was not considered "dangerous" flying weather.

The LAV operations office in New York said the 18 passengers included 2 infants.

Wave of Arrests Reported From Hungary

Puppet Government Puts New 'Tough' Policy in Effect

VIENNA (U) — A wave of arrests was reported from Hungary today in the wake of Soviet sponsored puppet Premier Janos Kadar's announced crackdown on "criminals and counter-revolutionaries."

Reports reaching Vienna said Hungary's puppet government was losing no time in putting its new "tough" policy into effect. Arrests of former "freedom fighter" leaders were reported under way all over the country.

Returning diplomats reported the crackdown was started even before Kadar told the nation in a radio broadcast Monday night:

"I solemnly declare that all criminals and counter-revolutionaries will be sought out and put on trial."

Arrest 600-Man Garrison

Kadar himself announced the first two candidates for trial. He named them as journalist Miklos Gimes and writer Andras Szandor, both recognized as "Titoists."

In the countryside, the Russians arrested the entire 600-man-strong Hungarian army garrison of Hegyesalom, near the Austrian frontier. Soldiers were charged with supporting the freedom fighters by helping refugees to find a safe route to freedom across the Iron Curtain border.

Premier Kadar was riding roughshod over the disheartened leaders of the uprising regardless of the effect on the striking workers. He thus showed signs that he considered the revolt was thoroughly quelled and his Red dictatorship was back in the driver's seat.

Claims Strike Virtually Over

The Hungarian man-in-the-street already has rejected the government version that the popular "freedom premier" went to Romania at his own request. He also did not accept Kadar's view that Nagy was guilty of an "unforgivable crime" in permitting "reactionaries" to murder Communists such as members of the hated AVH (secret police).

Kadar, backed by the Workers Council of Greater Budapest, was claiming that the 4-week-old general strike was virtually over. But production remained paralyzed by lack of fuel and power.

John Eston Ledbetter Dies of Bullet Wounds

admitted that he did the shooting. Atkinson said he asked Chamberlain why he did it and that he said, "Aw—some little trouble." Atkinson placed Chamberlain under arrest and took him to the county jail, where he again asked him why he did it and he said it was an accident.

The officer returned to the house and he and others, including Sheriff Barrett, began an investigation.

Four empty shells that had been taken from the gun and thrown into a waste can before Atkinson arrived were recovered and some bullet slugs that were imbedded into parts of the kitchen were dug out.

Claims No Arguments

Sheriff Barrett, who has the empty shells and three slugs, as well as the revolver and Ledbetter's clothing, said there were indications six shots were fired. He said there was evidence of beer drinking in the kitchen.

Barrett said he talked to Ledbetter at the hospital and that he could get very little out of him because of his condition. He said Ledbetter told him that when Chamberlain got the pistol out, he tried to get him to put it away "before the kids got home."

He said both men told him there had been no arguments, that he talked with Chamberlain after he had been locked up. He said Chamberlain told him he didn't know why he shot Ledbetter, when he shot him, or how many shots were fired.

Ledbetter is survived by his wife, Betty, and the following children: Carolyn, Dorris, Janet, Tommy Lee and Norma Rae, all at home; two brothers, Gilbert Ledbetter, St. Louis, Mo., and Raymond Ledbetter, Harrisburg, and the following sisters: Mrs. Vivian Agin, Harrisburg, Mrs. Aileen Walters, Harvey, Mrs. Edith Healy, Carmi, and Miss Ann Ledbetter of Harvey. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Pearly Ledbetter of Harvey.

The body lies in state at the Gibbons funeral home and funeral plans are incomplete.

An inquest into Ledbetter's death will be held Wednesday at 6 p. m. at the court house, it was announced by Coroner Elmer Gibbons.

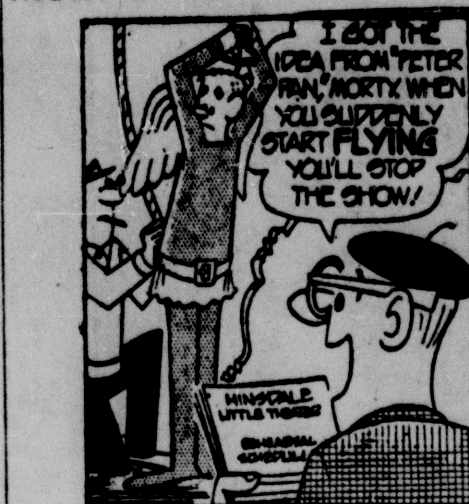

Graveside Services Held at Eldorado

Mrs. Mary Keton, 70, died Saturday night at her home in Conway, Ark. She was the widow of Taylor Keton who died in 1938 in Eldorado.

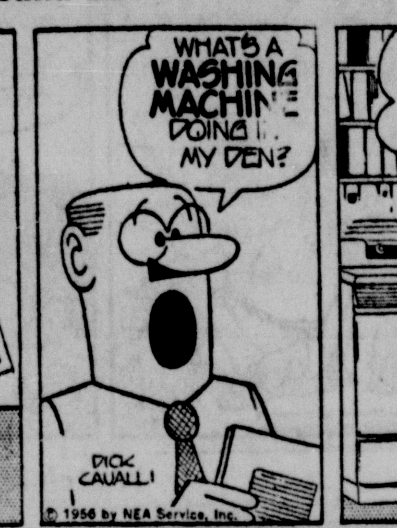

Funeral services were held yesterday in Arkansas and the body was returned to Eldorado for graveside services today at 2 p. m. at the Wolf Creek cemetery.

The Eldorado funeral home was in charge.

Atty Browning Appears Before U. S. Grand Jury

SPRINGFIELD (U) — J. Roy Browning was the first witness today before a federal grand jury investigating a $35,000 lobbying fee he was paid by the Union Electric Co. of St. Louis.

Browning, a Chicago attorney and friend of convicted former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, has said he turned over $7,500 of the fee to Hodge and never saw the remainder, all of which apparently wound up in Hodge's "brown envelope" account at a Chicago bank.

Browning met with U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. and Stoddard's assistant, Robert B. Oxtoby while the grand jury dealt with routine cases.

Then Browning entered the grand jury room shortly after 10:30 a. m.

Also on hand for the start of the investigation were J. Wesley McAfee, Union Electric president; Henry F. Driemeyer, an attorney for the utility; Harry C. Williamson, real estate and tax officer for the firm; and John A. Woodbridge, vice president and general manager for Union Electric.

McAfee, Driemeyer and Williamson were excused from the proceedings until 1:30 p. m.

Meanwhile, Stoddard announced appointment of Robert N. Hislop, Arlington, Va., a trial attorney for the division of corporate regulation of the Securities and Exchange Commission, as a special assistant U. S. attorney for the case.

Stoddard said Hodge would not be brought here from Menard State Prison to appear before the grand jury, at least not at its first session this week.

Find Oil Traces Near Madisonville

CHICAGO (U) — A Pure Oil Co. report said today that oil traces have been found at three levels in a test drilling on a 67,500 acre tract of land in Hopkins County near Madisonville, Ky.

Oil was found at levels from 2,579 to 2,590 feet; from 2,624 to 2,628 feet, and the third from 2,485 feet to 2,489. The oil was found after 1,049 pounds of pressure had been forced on it for two hours.

Additional drilling is planned, the company said today, and the drillings will undergo further tests soon. A company announcement said the nearest field of "any consequence" is in Slaughters, Ky., 12 miles north of Madisonville.

The drilling was on land leased from the West Kentucky Coal Co.

SIU Freshman Girl, 18, Is Crowned Illinois Fruit Queen

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Barbara Liebig, 18, a Southern Illinois University freshman, was crowned Illinois fruit queen Monday night at the opening of the Illinois Horticultural Convention here.

Miss Liebig, of Mascoutah, won over six other girls in the final judging.

About 300 persons are attending the three-day convention. Speakers will include Truman Nold, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Peach Conference, and Norbert Eschmeyer, Washington, D. C., secretary of the International Apple Institute.

Scientists believe that on the average about one in one-hundred-billion atoms of radium breaks up each second.

The Eldorado funeral home was in charge.

Name Indiana Man Corn King

CHICAGO (U) — Walter J. Hartel, Crawfordsville, Ind., today was named Corn King of the Hay and Grain Show, held in conjunction with the 1956 International Livestock Show.

An 18-year-old Indiana youth, David Lux of Shelbyville, was chosen Corn Prince, and his uncle, Frank W. Lux, was runner-up for the senior championship.

Harley Doubet, 15, Hannah City, Ill., was runner-up for the junior honors.

Hartel, Corn King in 1947, won the top honors this year with his sample of Indiana Certified 84-D corn.

A Canadian youth, Jerry Leiske, 13, of Beiseker, Alberta, repeated Monday as the wheat king. Leiske, who also won the title in 1955, exhibited a chinook variety of red spring wheat.

Army of Firefighters Battle Forest, Brush Blaze in California

RAMONA, Calif. (U) — An army of firefighters worked with feverish determination today to control a wind-fanned forest and brush fire which has claimed 11 lives.

The fire, burning on a 44-mile front, has blackened more than 40,000 acres in the Cleveland National Forest of San Diego County. Eleven firefighters met death Sunday night when they were trapped in a ravine by a sudden windshift.

The U. S. Forest Service said Monday night that the situation was looking better. A spokesman said that if winds decrease the fire might be under control Wednesday or Thursday.

Refugees Report Escapees Slain By Border Guards

EISENSTADT, Austria (U) — Hungarian refugees reaching freedom here today said they saw at least 20 bodies of would-be escapees who were shot and killed by Communist border guards.

The Hungarians said they saw the bodies in the fields near Bucs, Hungary, opposite the Austrian border village of Rechnitz.

They said their fleeing countrymen apparently were shot only a few hundred feet inside Hungarian territory.

They said the Russians forbade local Hungarian authorities to bury the bodies in order to "deter other Hungarians from escaping to Austria."

Soil Conservation Essay Contest for High School Students

A. A. Gholson, chairman of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, today announced a Soil Conservation essay contest open to all high school students in the county.

The title of the essay this year will be "Dimes to Dollars through Soil Conservation." The county winner will receive a $50 government bond and the four top winners in each of the high school will receive prizes of $15 in cash.

The essays must be in the office of C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, by Dec. 10 and they will be judged that week.

Winners will be guests of the Saline County Soil Conservation district at its annual meeting in January.

Hornung is First Choice In Player Draft

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 12 clubs of the National Football League set out today to sign the top collegiate stars—and the usual number of dark horses—they selected in the early draft.

As expected, most of the All-America prospects were snapped up by the clubs in the four rounds of selections held early again in an effort to beat the Canadian teams to contract talks. But, as usual, a number of unheralded players were chosen in preference to the touted Titans.

The unknowns among the most sought after players were chiefly linemen uncovered by the team scouts. They included Don Owens, Mississippi Southern tackle, the No. 3 choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers, and Luke Owens, Kent State tackle plucked by the Baltimore Colts.

The Washington Redskins selected Jim Podohly, Central Michigan halfback, in the fourth round and the Detroit Lions grabbed Steve Junker, Xavier end, as their fourth selection.

Notre Dame's Paul Hornung,

the halfback who did everything well despite playing on a sputtering team, was the pick of the crop. He was selected first by the Green Bay Packers, who won the annual bonus draw and had the right to choose any graduating college player in the nation.

Packer Coach Lisle Blackbourn, who pulled the lucky slip from a hat in a draw with the Chicago Cardinals, explained that Hornung would fit right into the Green Bay pattern.

Numerically, Los Angeles was the chief beneficiary of the draw, grabbing seven of the 49 players selected in the four rounds as a result of trades made previously with the Giants and the Forty-Niners.

Giants Get Least Number
The Giants got the least number out of the early draft, coming up with only two players, tackle Sam Deluca of South Carolina and Dennis Mendyk, Michigan State halfback.

Jon Arnett of Southern California was selected by Los Angeles immediately after Hornung was grabbed. San Francisco then took John Brodie, Stanford quarterback; Green Bay took Michigan end Ron Kramer; Pittsburgh took Len Dawson, Purdue quarterback; Cleveland went for Jim Brown, Syracuse fullback; and Philadelphia selected Clarence Peaks, the injured Michigan State halfback.

The Baltimore Colts' first choice was guard Jim Parker of Ohio

State; Washington took Don Boseler, Miami fullback; the Chicago Cardinals picked center Jerry Tubbs of Oklahoma; New York had traded its first draft pick to Los Angeles, which chose Baylor halfback Del Shofner; the Detroit Lions chose guard Bill Glass of Baylor and the Chicago Bears took Earl Leggett of Louisiana State. A total of 29 of the 49 players selected were backfield stars and seven were ends.

Democrats Take Up Problem of Paying Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Party leaders today took up the $815,389 question—how to get out of the red?

The Executive Committee of the Democratic National Committee returned to a closer meeting today to consider ways of meeting the party's $815,000-plus campaign deficit and to shape winning strategy for the 1958 and 1960 elections.

Though leaders maintained a public air of jubilation over the party's election victory in capturing control of Congress and over other grassroots gains, Jacob M. Arvey, the blunt-speaking national committeeman from Illinois, reminded them they didn't win the White House.

Victory Fine, But . . .
"All this talk about a great victory is fine," said Arvey. "We had a great victory—but we also got hit by a truck."

The Executive Committee in its first post-election session Monday: —Ordered National Chairman Paul M. Butler to start work, through a committee, on a Western states regional conference to give that region a stronger voice in the party and to emphasize the West's particular problems.

Vote Magazine Change
—Voted to switch the party's magazine, the Democratic digest, from pocket to news magazine size, limit it to 16 pages and cut its price from $3 a year to $1.

—Voted to set up a group of lawyers to write rules for operation of the national committee. The group now has no rules; it operates on precedent.

Butler again told newsmen he intends to keep his job until and unless the national committee asks him to resign.

U. S. Has Dentist For Each 1,667

CHICAGO (UP)—There is one dentist in the United States for each 1,667 persons, according to the American Dental Association. The association's bureau of economic research and statistics estimated the total number of dentists in the country at 97,529.

The total includes 90,239 civilian dentists and 7,290 serving in the armed forces, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Veterans Administration.

The total estimated for 1956 was 1,646 higher than last year, when there was one dentist for each 1,669 persons, and it was 3,803 over the 1954 figures, when the ratio stood at one dentist for each 1,677 persons.

The eastern part of the country and the west coast are served by more dentists in proportion to population than any other parts of the country, the survey showed.

The regional leader, with one dentist for every 1,402 persons, is

Knowland Says Russia Should Be Expelled by UN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—United States Senator William F. Knowland said Monday the Soviet Union should be expelled from the United Nations until Russian troops leave Hungary.

The Senate minority leader also proposed an armed emergency UN force ready to "act in 24 hours, not 24 days."

Knowland outlined a program to curb Russian actions in Hungary before 1,500 mayors gathered here for the American Municipal Congress.

He said, "Nations can die in less time than delegates can talk. I don't want this country's freedom to depend on long debates in the U. N."

Knowland, California Republican and member of the United States delegation to the U. N., said, "It isn't true that nothing short of armed conflict can be done to help the Hungarians—that's defeatism."

Other points in his program were economic sanctions by all free nations against the Soviet Union and its satellites, withdrawal of diplomatic recognition of the Soviet bloc, a call on business and labor to refuse to handle exports to Russia and imports from Russia until the Soviet agrees to the U. N. mandate to withdraw from Hungary.

OLIVER ROLLINS, former Carrier Mills Community high school star basketball player, will be with the world famed Harlem Globe Trotters when they play in Harrisburg, Thursday, Dec. 13.

Harlem Globe Trotters to Play Game at Davenport Gym Dec. 13

Oliver Rollins
Will Be Member
Of Famous Squad

Basketball's greatest attraction—the Harlem Globe Trotters—will be in Harrisburg Thursday, Dec. 13.

Making the Trotters of even greater interest than usual to local area basketball fans is the fact that Oliver Rollins, all-time scoring champion of the Carrier Mills high school and one of the finest high school players in the state during his four year high school career, will be a member of the famous Negro basketball group.

Rollins signed a contract with the Globe Trotters in the early spring and made a trip through Europe with the Trotters this summer, leaving the United States the middle of May and returning home about Sept. 1.

After watching Rollins perform, a scout made the following report to Trotter owner Abe Saperstein: "Best prospect I have seen in a long time. Stands 6-3, 19 years old, weighs 216. Fast for his weight. He sweeps the boards. He has steel springs in his legs. He can jump and throw the ball down through the hoop. He is the tallest six-three cager I've ever seen. He can cat a basketball with either hand like it was a baseball. He's agile and has a deft touch in his hands."

Others on Squad

Other members of the Globe Trotters to be in Harrisburg: Bob "Showboat" Hall, the new number one comedy king of the Globe Trotters;

Jesse Coffey, 6-5 guard, who is a native of San Diego, Calif., where he starred in both basketball and football in high school and later played basketball in the Army;

Ermer "Old Pro" Robinson, making his 11th annual tour with the Globe Trotter, and former holder of the National AAU tournament scoring record. He is now first assistant to Coach Abe Saperstein;

Murphy A. Sumner, of Detroit, where he was a star in several sports at Northwestern high school. This is his third year with the Trotters;

Don Byrd, Cleveland native, who performed exceptionally for teams representing Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and Fort Belvoir, Va., and was named two years running to the mythical All-Army team;

Henry Kean Jr., son of the late Henry Kean Sr., basketball coach and athletic director at Tennessee State University. Young Kean had a brilliant college career before joining the Trotters;

McKinley "Deacon" Davis, former Freeport and University of

Illini Vote Walker Most Valuable, Dale Smith Grid Captain

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois awarded this year's most valuable player trophy and selected the captain of the 1957 squad at their annual football banquet Monday night.

The Illini named guard Dave Walker, Yorkville, Ill., this year's most valuable player and voted 26-year-old service returnee Dale Smith captain of next year's squad.

Smith, although listed as a sophomore all year, has only one year of eligibility left due to previous competition at Quincy College.

Iowa basketball star, Davis played varsity ball at the U. of Iowa three years and before that paced his Freeport team to the Illinois state championship;

Lee Garner, 6-10, from Alcorn College of Mississippi. During his college days Garner starred in both basketball and track, specializing in the high jump. He is an excellent rebounder, good floor man and has many big scoring nights.

The program, to be staged at Davenport gymnasium, is sponsored in Harrisburg by the group of men pushing the night baseball program. Although the field was put in use during the past summer, there are improvements the men want to complete and all local proceeds from the Globe Trotter appearance will be used to improve the baseball playing facilities.

Tickets are now on sale at Gee's barber shop, Karnes Hardware and Jackson's drug store in Harrisburg. Reserved seats are $2, general admission $1.50 and student tickets, bought in advance, are 90 cents.

Playing the Globe Trotters will be the Philadelphia Sphas, with a roster of outstanding basketball players.

And to complete the evening's entertainment, there will be top notch variety acts before the game and at half time.

Pettit Closes In On Johnston In Pro Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, the defending scoring champion in the National Basketball Association, has started to close in on Philadelphia's Neil Johnston in the current race.

Johnston remained in the first place during the past week, scoring 83 points in four games for a total of 336. However, Pettit vaulted from fourth to second place by tallying 108 points in four games and now trails Johnston by only nine points.

Paul Arizin of Philadelphia took over third place with 315 points, including games played last Sunday, while Clyde Lovellette of Minneapolis slipped from second to fourth with 285.

Pettit remained the scoring average leader with a mark of 25.2 points per game compared to Johnston's 24.0 average.

Bobby Morrow First Double Winner in Olympics; U.S. Wins 5 More Events

Americans Capture 16th Gold Medal; Sweep 100, Discus

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bullet Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., became the first double winner of the 1956 Olympic games today by rocketing to a record victory in the 200-meter dash as the U. S. rang up five more championships, including a stirring comeback by Yale's eight-oared crew.

By rolling up 90 points during the day, the U. S. hiked its total to 282 against 150 for Russia in the unofficial team race and brought its gold medal total to 16 for four full days of competition. Germany held third place with 63 1-2 points.

Morrow, winner at 100 meters last Saturday, knifed into the tape one-tenth of a second faster than a 20-year-old Olympic record set by the incomparable Jesse Owens to lead a 1-2-3 American finish with a new mark of 20.6.

Moments later, hulking Al Oerter of New Hyde Park, N. Y., heaved the discus 184 feet, 10 1-2 inches for another new Olympic record and another 1-2-3 American sweep.

In addition to Yale's eight-oared triumph, a heart-warming comeback for the collegians who faced sudden death elimination in every heat after being upset in their first race, two smaller units bagged gold medals in the best American showing on the water since 1932.

Jim Fifer and Duvall Hecht of the Detroit Boat Club won the pairs without coxswain and the Stanford Crew Association's pair with coxswain—Art Ayrault, Conn.

Findlay and Kurt Seiffert—came through with a tremendous race to win its class.

The U. S. basketball team won easily, thumping Bulgaria, 85-44, but there were disappointments for several American hopefuls including a pair of veterans, Horace Ashenfelter and handsome Jack Kelly.

Ashenfelter, 33-year-old FBI agent and winner of the 3,000-meter steeplechase at Helsinki four years ago, ran sixth in an 11-man field in his first qualifying heat and was eliminated. Kelly, 29 and shooting for the third time to duplicate his father's 1920 triumph in single sculls, finished third in the event won by Russia's 19-year-old star, Viatcheslav Ivanov.

Discus Finish Surprises
Morrow, 21-year-old junior at Abilene Christian College, nailed his claim to the title of "world's fastest human" by scoring a clear-cut victory over the defending champion, 28-year-old Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N. J. Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., second to Andy four years ago, had to settle for third.

The sweep in the discus wasn't exactly a surprise but the order of finish was, for the favorite was the veteran world record holder Fortune Gordien of Brightwood, Ore. But Oerter, 20-year-old University of Kansas star, cracked the Olympic record of 180 feet, 6 1-2 inches set by Sim Iness of the U. S. in 1952 and pushed Gordien into second place more than five feet shorter. Des Koch of Shelton, Wash., was third while giant Italo Consolini of Italy, a long-time favorite, wound up sixth.

The U. S. picked up points in two events they didn't figure too well in.

Willie B. White of Breenwood, Miss., the little miss who tried to teach "rock and roll" to the Russians, posted a surprise second in the women's broad jump behind record-setting Elzbieta Krzesinska of Poland who leaped 20 feet, 9¼.

Miss White made 19 feet, 11¼. Surprise in Broad Jump
Bill Sharpe of Philadelphia finished fourth in the hop, step and jump won by the veteran Adhemar Da Silva of Brazil, who set a new Olympic record of 53 feet, 7 1-2 inches, five inches over his own mark. Sharpe leaped 52 feet, 1 inch.

All three American entries qualified with ease by winning 110-meter hurdle heats with Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., and Joel Shankle of Durham, N. C., leading the group with clockings of 14 seconds flat. Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind., made it into the semi-finals by winning his heat in :14.1.

Charley Jones of Boys Town, Neb., qualified for the 3,000-meter steeplechase final but all three American girls shooting for the 80-meter hurdle semi-finals failed.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

GRAYSON FINDS:

Patterson Has Classic Title Edge-- Youth--Floyd Picked to Wear Out Moore

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CHICAGO (NEA)—Years ago during the 45-round days in California, an old fight guy told me: "Whenever you are in doubt about the result of a fight, pick the younger fighter. You will rarely be wrong."

The rule has worked pretty well down through the years. So, this handicapper is picking Floyd Patterson to win the world heavyweight championship in his 15-round match with Archie Moore at the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 30. Floyd, the Brooklyn speedster, most certainly has age running for him—19 years of it. He was not even a year old when the 40-year-old Moore had his first professional fight.

THE WAY WE LOOK at it, the last piece of armor plate in the solid battleship which was Moore was knocked loose in the ninth round by Rocky Marciano at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 21 of last year. Nobody else was much account after being left dead by Marciano. There is no reason to believe that the ancient and honorable Moore will be any different.

The wily Moore can block one punch or block, catch or get away from one or two, but not even one so ringwise as he is going to evade the custers of clouts which young Patterson will toss at him, in rat-a-tat-tat machine gun style. And, unless he's hurt badly early, Patterson will keep throwing combinations, for at 21 he has the vim, vitality and mobility of a two-year-old thoroughbred horse.

From the Marciano and other Moore appearances, Patterson must have gathered that the proper way is to keep on top of the old ring gypsy. That would be the logical plan against any warrior of his age.

The plodding Marciano played into Moore's hands by staying away in the first round. That's why the champion was dropped by a right in the second. This taught Marciano that he was foolish to give Moore punching room.

It is our idea that Moore must knock out Patterson inside of four rounds to win. Every round it goes will be to the youngster's advantage.

Those building a case for Moore, and there are many, stress the fact that Moore will cuff the kid around in the clinches, where he appeared lost against the clown, Hurricane Tommy Jackson. But a point here is that Patterson must have learned something that night at Madison Square Garden. Indeed, those 12 rounds are his biggest recommendation for this start.

The first 12 minutes of jousting with Archie will be fraught with danger for Patterson. One damaging mistake could ruin him. But youth, keeping constant pressure on Moore, can lessen this danger as every minute of the fight wears on.

This department has constantly scored Patterson for his lack of experience, amateurish tricks. But he is a fighter who has been improving, fight after fight, since the night he stepped into old St. Nicholas Arena and took out Eddie Godbold in his first step toward the title.

THERE WAS, FOR EXAMPLE, an eight-round bout with Dick Wagner at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. Wagner stabbed to the midsection, fought well inside. He made Patterson look bad and Rocky Marciano, interested in this possible challenger even then, heard about the midsection business.

In a return match, Patterson bullied Wagner all over. He fought inside, then stepped back and chopped his man into a mess. He showed the ability to learn in that one.

He still could use some learning, would need it against a young Moore. But Archie is an old man now. And there is nothing like being young when the action gets hot and you need legs to keep you going.

You fight with your fists, yes. But you stand on your legs and when they refuse to hold up and still be limber, then your punches don't seem to make any indent.

It is because of this that Archie Moore will bow out from a grand career that puts boxing in a disgraceful light because of the way it refused to allow him the chance to take it all when he still was young enough to get the job done. And the fight also will serve as a show piece for young Patterson, who still has the chance to develop into a 1956 version of Joe Louis.
